In the meantime, I'll be sharing his market insights, analyses, reflections, and trading decisions.

Because this nationwide promotion by the Quantuminvest Wealth Club is crucial and at the heart of our 2024 brand strategy. In the meantime, to better promote Quantuminvest Wealth Club, we are introducing a prize-based guessing game for the Nasdaq Composite Index every day. The details are as follows:

When the total rewards up to $20 and will be distributed in USDT.

The screenshot shows the Tether website's Transparency page. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the Tether logo and links for 'Why Tether?', 'How it works', 'News', 'Tether Gold', 'Transparency', 'Log In', and a 'Sign Up' button. The main heading is 'Transparency'. Below the heading, there is a paragraph: 'All Tether tokens are pegged at 1-to-1 with a matching fiat currency and are backed 100% by Tether's Reserves. Information about Tether Tokens in circulation is typically published daily.¹ The Tether Issuers² combined assets exceed their combined liabilities.' To the right, there is a section titled 'Tether Tokens in Circulation' with a sub-note: 'The net circulation metrics below provide information on Tether Tokens in circulation and are for transparency only. These metrics are typically refreshed daily.' Below this is a table with five rows of data:

Token	Value	Unit
USDT in Tether	$114,240,216,367.41	(Net Circulation)
EURT in Tether	€30,618,610.07	(Net Circulation)
CNHT in Tether	¥20,503,468.90	(Net Circulation)
MXNT in Tether	Mex$19,562,400.00	(Net Circulation)
XAUT in Tether	₹246,524.33	(Net Circulation)

So, what is USDT?

Yeah, for new stock investors here, this might be a bit unfamiliar. Don't worry, though. My mentor will cover these blockchain concepts in his first session when he's back, so you'll quickly gain more knowledge. Here's my take on it: USDT/USDC are digital currencies pegged to the U.S. dollar, and they run on the blockchain. They're transmitted securely through encryption and maintain the stability of the dollar, holding a 1:1 value with USD, so owning USDT/USDC is basically like having USD. because whenever a USDT/USDC is issued, the issuing company must store or purchase corresponding treasury values to issue an equivalent amount. Does this explanation make sense to you?

As our Quantuminvest Wealth Club builds a new brand effect, we're not just giving you award. We also want to share valuable trading decisions that can create more wealth for you. I got some insights from my mentor, here's the information:

Despite Fed meeting indicating that a rate cut in September is highly likely, there are still some underlying factors that are causing the market to be somewhat skeptical. That potential factor is the political impact of the upcoming election. The next meeting in September is only 7 weeks away from Election Day, which is an unavoidable potential rally factor. The Fed's next meeting in September is only 7 weeks away from Election Day, which is an unavoidable potential rally factor.

Fellow members:

Choosing to move forward with our investment education journey means adopting a victorious and positive mindset, facing life's little setbacks with resilience, just like options surfing or currency surfing, the ups and downs are what make the ride beautiful. We will achieve new victories in September as we move forward in our investment journey.
